As Chief Information and Digital Officer, Mike McNamara is responsible for Target’s IT roadmap and holistic digital strategy, the company’s e-commerce business and all of the technology that powers Target’s 1,800+ stores, distribution centers and headquarters facilities. Before joining Target in 2015, Mike served as CIO for European-based retailer Tesco. During his 17+ year tenure, Mike steered the strategic direction for Tesco’s technology, led the rollout of Tesco.com, modernized the company’s supply chain and was instrumental in developing its operating model in Europe and Asia. Mike is a member of the board of directors for Minnesota Opera and Genesys Works Twin Cities. He has a bachelor of engineering degree from University College in Dublin.